Other Program Accomplishments:

CEH has also been a primary defender of California's Proposition 65 (Prop 65). We have used this state law to educate consumers and local community organizations about their right-to-know what is in the products they buy, and we continue to strengthen the support around defending it, including successfully opposing AB 2743.

CEH has supported multiple Federal bills that would address toxic PFAS in products, as well as two California bills that would track all PFAS imports into the state (AB 2247) and ban PFAS chemicals in cosmetics (AB 2771).

CEH reached over 100,000 people through our Prop 65 and other right-to-know communications with over 250 social media posts and 15 blog articles.

CEH supported 30 State and Federal bills and signed onto 120 letters applying guidance and pressure on regulatory agencies for community-based rulemaking, including a letter to EPA urging them to designate two PFAS, PFOS and PFOA, as hazardous substances which the agency is now in the process of granting.

CEH and our allies across the country raised awareness of the myths and harms of so-called "chemical recycling." We used a range of strategies to block its buildout, prevent efforts to deregulate this practice, ensure these facilities are not eligible for green energy incentives, and emphasize the importance of upstream solutions to the plastic waste crisis.

Litigated to Protect People from Toxic Chemicals and Heavy Metals: CEH initiated legal action against the largest U.S. fluorinator of plastic containers, encouraged scientific testing that identified PFAS in fluorinated plastic, and compelled EPA to take action. CEH and Public Employees for Environmental Responsibility (PEER) filed a lawsuit in federal court against Inhance Technologies for generating toxic PFAS when fluorinating plastic containers in violation of the Toxic Substances Control Act (TSCA).

CEH made progress in our BPA in clothing campaign by building the case for companies to improve manufacturing processes and reformulate their products to ensure BPA is eliminated. CEH filed suit against seven brands of sports bras and five brands of athletic shirts after testing showed that the clothing could expose individuals to up to 22 times the safe limit of the chemical bisphenol A (BPA), according to California law. Additionally, CEH sent legal notices to approximately 100 companies after extensive testing showed their socks made for babies, children, and adults could expose someone to up to 31 times the safe limit of the chemical BPA, according to California law.

CEH is committed to supporting the local efforts of community leaders to defend against unsafe toxic exposures in their communities. So, when government regulators failed to adequately respond to East Oakland residents' concerns about the cancer-causing diesel engine exhaust coming from Green Sage's nine trailer-sized generators, CEH and the Environmental Democracy Project (EDP) partnered with the Oakland Cannery Collective (the Collective), the resident group that had been advocating on the issue, to take legal action. We forced the illegal, polluting generators to be removed and protected local air quality in this community.

Shifted the Market Away from Harmful Endocrine Disrupting Chemicals (EDCs) in Food: Since our launch of the first-of-its-kind GreenScreen Certified™ Standard for Food Service Ware. The groundbreaking certification has set a new safety standard for everyday foodware items like disposable plates and bowls that do not contain per-and polyfluoroalkyl substances (PFAS) " forever chemicals", plus thousands of other chemicals of concern. Two manufacturers have certified 48 of their foodware products to CEH and CPA's GreenScreen Certification for safer single-use foodware and promoted the certifications to 11 healthcare institutions nationwide.

CEH audited the reusables infrastructure for Alameda County schools with 12 of the 18 districts being assessed for ease of adoption.

CEH saw an increase in the number of views of our online interactive Ditching Disposables Toolkit for K-12 schools, the number of people who receive our toolkit at approximately 2500 recipients, and the number of people who attended our webinars/conferences at approximately 520 attendees. This important tool helps purchasers and individuals know what is in the foodware products they purchase and be able to make healthier choices.

CEH informed and provided resources to approximately 2,900 people from various targeted sectors about the health impacts of toxic chemicals in foodware.

CEH tested 31 fiber-based products for PFAS and added them to our publicly accessible foodware database and had 70 webpage views of our database this year.

Promoted Healthier Products in the Built Environment:

Completed our analysis on the carbon and chemical footprint of polyvinyl chloride (PVC) used in vinyl flooring and published our groundbreaking report, "Flooring's Dirty Climate Secret" to help people and institutions to better understand the carbon and chemical footprint of PVC used in ubiquitous vinyl flooring.

CEH pushed business towards purchasing safer products by providing at least eight institutions with the necessary technical assistance to change their procurement policies and/or practices to healthier products. Additionally, we produced 10 publicly accessible resources like fact sheets, purchasing guides, and original reports to aid in better purchasing decisions.

CEH hosted the webinar, Exposing Luxury: Vinyl Flooring's Carbon and Toxic Impacts, with presenters from Parson's Healthy Materials Lab, Determined by Design and Healthy Building Network. We followed up this engagement by hosting the webinar, The Great Indoors: Keeping Your Home Free of Toxics, where we presented on healthy homes and how we can stem the tide of unnecessary industry-created chemicals that find their way into our homes. The webinars combined drew 267 attendees, and the YouTube recording has been viewed over 662 times.

CEH developed an ecolabel comparison guide for both carpet and resilient flooring. The guides help purchasers compare criteria of the most chemically rigorous and commonly-used multi-attribute eco-labels for resilient flooring and carpet in the United States. Multi-attribute eco-labels include numerous requirements within one certification, reducing purchaser burden as they seek to understand the full environmental story of a product.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4d - Other Program Services Description

CEH has successfully partnered with CityHealth, a project of the de Beaumont Foundation and Kaiser Permanente, to generate policy recommendations for "eco-friendly purchasing" (EFP) which were adopted by CityHealth and promoted with the 75 largest U.S. cities. These policy recommendations include best practices for the procurement of cleaning products, furnishings (carpet, flooring, and furniture), and foodware. These three product categories are commonly purchased in large volumes by cities, can be significant sources of toxic chemicals, and safer alternatives are available in the market.

CEH has had significant success in our use of various media platforms to share our work cleaning up our built environment with over 20,000 impressions/views of built environment posts across platforms such as LinkedIn, Twitter, and Instagram.
